Welcome Message

by

Conference Co-Chair

Dr. Koen Bertels

Researcher at FPGA House & QSentinel, Switzerland

Dear Esteemed Scientists, Engineers, and Researchers of Applied Science,

It is my honor to invite you to the 2nd International Conference on Applied Science, Engineering, and Technology (ICAET2026), which will be held from June 15–17, 2026, in Florence, Italy.

Computer technology is omnipresent on our planet. Today, we use supercomputers to process and analyse massive datasets, and we are continuously storing more and more information. Data storage and supercomputers are at the end of what they can offer our planet, leading to the very intensive development of hardware and software of quantum computers and DNA data storage devices.

Quantum computing is substantially changing many, if not all, fields on this planet. As stated, we need to store all available data, ranging from novels and high-quality images of paintings to efficient company balance sheets in DNA, which has many properties for extremely long storage time.

Leading experts, researchers, and professionals in applied science, engineering, and technology from across the world get together under one umbrella to share, discuss, and collaborate in the challenging and very broad discipline. You can participate in various plenary sessions, keynote presentations, table discussions, and oral and poster presentations.

On behalf of the organizing committee, we would like to thank you for participating and contributing to the conference. Your contribution will, with no doubt, make the conference successful. Your presence and contribution are very important in advancing the interdisciplinary of applied science, engineering, and technology. We will work together to address the challenges we face in the field of applied science, engineering, and technology.

We wish you a productive and inspiring experience at ICAET2026.

Warm Regards,
